

Van der Windt

Our Quality department ensures our quality –and yours

As a producer or packer of food you have to comply with a whole raft of regulations and guidelines. And if you are planning to have your product certified via one or more of the certifying bodies you will definitely be asked a range of very diverse questions. So it's good to know that, as far as your packaging is concerned, Van der Windt Verpakking BV has all the answers. Our own Quality department not only guarantees the quality of Van der Windt's products it can also answer any packaging questions related to your certification.

Van der Windt has considerable experience with quality certification and certifying bodies. As a leading packaging supplier we do, of course, have all the relevant certification in-house, such as BRC-IOP and ISO 9001:2008. Having our own quality department means we are also able to keep a very close eye on developments in the field of certification. Which is why we know our way around and know better than anyone all the certification questions that can arise. We use this expertise to ensure you receive all the relevant information and documentation about our packaging, quickly and accurately.

When can we be of service to you?

If you have any questions about certification and documents, or if you would like to know more about the composition of products or the production process, please contact us at any time. You can count on a practical and free service tuned to your needs and products. As far as Van der Windt is concerned this service is a 'normal' component of the added-value we offer our customers. It means you are always 'playing safe'!

Do you already use our other services?

The Quality department is not the only department that can be of service to you. Our in-house design studio will be very pleased to help with your printed packaging. Such added-value is typical of Van der Windt Verpakking!
